ith its chic finishes and airy proportions, this Melbourne kitchen may be a vision of now – but in reality, it’s been a work in progress since homeowner and interior designer Belinda was just 15 years old. She was living in Virginia in the US and would spend her weekends visiting display villages to ogle palatial East Coast homes. “American houses are crazy,” she recalls. “The scale and level of detail planted a seed that grew in my head all these years.” Fast-forward to now and Belinda has fashioned a lofty Hamptons-inspired home, of which the kitchen is the undeniable hero. “It’s where we spend a lot of time, so it’s where we decided to go all out,” she explains. And “go all out” the family did: “My husband brought 150 handles from Restoration Hardware back from a work trip to New York, stuffing most of his clothes into a suit bag!” she recalls with a laugh. The slick chrome hardware imparts an authentic American feel, yet thanks to a breezy palette, relaxed cane furniture and pops of pattern, this kitchen is still perfectly at home in Australia. >
